

Sossusvlei sightseeing flight including the coast 2022

Your pilot will be waiting for you in the terminal of the City Airport Windhoek / Eros. After a short welcome, you will depart towards the Namib Desert. Across the Khomas Highlands, you will fly over the edge of the Namib Desert. You will be able to observe how the landscape changes. At first you will see green vegetation which then turns into a dry desert landscape towards the Namib.

You will fly over the red dunes to Sossusvlei. After about 1 hour flight time you will fly over the highest dunes of the earth. These can reach a height of up to 350 meters.

After you pass Sossusvlei, the flight route leads you to the coast. About 10 km inland of the coast you will pass abandoned diamond camps. These were shut down at the end of the 1930s. Today you can still see old huts and railway tracks there. Afterwards we will fly directly to the beach and will be able to see the first seal colonies there. Shortly thereafter, you will pass the first shipwreck. These are the Eduard planks. A ship of the Woermann line, which today is about 200 meters inland!

Crossing Conception Bay you fly north along the coastline. You will then pass the second shipwreck, the Shaunee. Here you leave the Atlantic coast and fly inland towards Windhoek. You will pass the Kuiseb River, which forms a natural borderline between the stone desert and the dune landscape. The Gobabeb Desert Research Station will be on your right. The plane will ascent over the outskirts and the Khomas Highlands back to the City Airport Windhoek/ Eros.

Flight time approx. 2:45 hours.
